History of Purdue Music Organization

Organized music groups at Purdue University date back to 1891, with the Chapel Choir. The Purdue Varsity Glee Club began with 11 members in 1893. In 1930, Al Stewart was asked to direct a Women's Glee Club and later, a Purdue Concert Choir. Several years later the Purdue Men's Glee Club asked Al Stewart to direct them as well. Soon after, these organizations were collectively named Purdue Music Organizations.

Collection Description

Scope

The Purdue University Musical Organizations records (1876-2007, 2.95 cubic feet). This collection documents Purdue University's musical organizations including the Choral Society, Glee Club, Symphony Orchestra, and University bands. Materials include song books, scrapbook, programs, sheet music, and record albums. It includes information on well-known Purdue songs, such as "Hail Purdue," as well as lesser-known Purdue songs performed at convocations, football games against Indiana University, and related events. Some late 19th century song books not specific to Purdue but presumably used at various Purdue religious services, convocations, and events have been retained with the collection, as well as two military related song books published in the 1940s. The records are organized into 2 series:

Arrangement

1. Musical Organizations records, ca. 1876-2011, (1.25 cubic feet).

Series 1 documents the activities of Purdue University Musical Organizations. Organizations include: Purdue University Glee Club, Varsity Glee Club, Girls Glee Club, Men's Glee Club, Mandolin and Glee Club, University Band, Choir, Symphony, and Concert Band. Materials include programs, announcements, song books, sheet music, and newspaper and magazine clippings. Materials in the series are arranged alphabetically.

2. Musical Organizations Record Albums, 1958-1982, (1.7 cubic feet).

Series 2 documents the activities of Purdue University Musical Organizations and consists of record albums featuring Purdue related recordings. Organizations include: Purdue University Glee Club, Varsity Glee Club, University Band, Choir, Symphony, and Concert Band, Indiana Society of Chicago, and the Manhattan Beach Coast Guard Band. Materials in the series are arranged chronologically.
