Biography of Stanislav Grof

Stanislav Grof, noted psychiatrist, author, consciousness researcher, and pioneer of transpersonal psychology, was born on July 1, 1931 in Prague, Czechoslovakia to Stanislav (a chemical engineer) and Maria Petnik Grof. Heavily influenced by the works of Freud early in his studies, Grof was inspired to become a psychiatrist and earned an M.D. at the Charles University School of Medicine in Czechoslovakia in 1956, and a Ph.D. at the Czechoslovakian Academy of Sciences in 1965.

Dr. Grof’s interest in the clinical use of psychedelic substances was spurred in the 1960s when the Sandoz pharmaceutical company approached the Psychiatric Research Institute in Prague, requesting that studies be conducted on LSD-25 in order to ascertain whether or not the substance had therapeutic properties. Grof subsequently volunteered to participate in a research program which explored LSD as a tool for experiential training, allowing psychiatrists and psychologists to experience the “inner-world” of psychotic patients. He eventually became principal investigator of this program, and has gone on to devote his career to examining the therapeutic potential of psychedelic substances.

In 1967, he was invited to Johns Hopkins University as a research scientist, and in 1969, continued on at the Maryland Psychiatric Research Center. There, he served as Chief of Psychiatric Research and Assistant Professor of Psychiatry. In 1973, Grof became a scholar-in-residence at the Esalen Institute, a non-profit organization devoted to the exploration of human potential in Big Sur, California. While there, he authored books, lectured, and developed Holotropic Breathwork, an innovative form of experiential psychotherapy, with his wife Christina. Dr. Grof is also the founder and president of the International Transpersonal Association (ITA), and has organized major international conferences on transpersonal psychology.

Grof’s major fields of research interest include therapeutic and heuristic aspects of non-ordinary states of consciousness, the use of psychedelics and non-drug techniques in psychotherapy, alternative approaches to psychoses, spiritual emergency and treatment of transpersonal crises, biology, brain research, and consciousness studies. He also maintains interests in other non-ordinary states of consciousness such as shamanism, Eastern spiritual systems, mysticism, the rites of passage of aboriginal cultures, and near-death experiences.

Dr. Grof is a Professor of Psychology at the California Institute of Integral Studies (CIIS) in the Department of Philosophy, Cosmology, and Consciousness, and also teaches in the Pacifica Graduate Institute in Santa Barbara, CA.

In October 2007, Dr. Grof received a VISION 97 award granted by the Foundation of Dagmar and Vaclav Havel in Prague. The foundation’s mission supports cultural and social projects with the potential to bring meaningful change to the future.

Dr. Grof has written extensively on LSD and its use in psychotherapy and about other methods and types of psycho-spiritual work.

Collection Description

Scope

The Stanislav Grof papers (1955-2008; 6 cubic feet) document the professional interests of Stanislav Grof over the course of his career. The collection consists mainly of scholarly articles that reflect his research interests during the 1960s and 1970s. Also included in the collection are electronic copies of Grof’s artwork and writings, presentations, his doctoral dissertation, and a handwritten manuscript.

Other materials of interest include firsthand accounts of spiritual experiences written by Grof’s students; annotated bibliographies; pamphlets and issues of periodicals on the nature of psychedelic research (some of which are vibrantly illustrated); and photocopies of unique items such as Joann and Timothy Leary’s Neurologic and “Handbook for the Therapeutic Use of Lysergic Acid Diethylamide-25,” by Blewett and Chwielos. The Stanislav Grof papers are arranged in nine series, two of which (series 1 and 3) have been further arranged in subseries.

Arrangement

1. Writings and Biographical Information, 1960-2012 (2.95 cubic feet)
Series 1 contains information produced by Stanislav Grof. It is divided into five subseries:

   Subseries 1-A (Manuscripts and Typescripts)
   Subseries 1-B (Published Works)
   Subseries 1-C (Presentations)
   Subseries 1-D (Patient Notes)
   Subseries 1-E (Biographical/Promotional Material)

Materials include Grof’s four-page account of a dream; articles authored or co-authored by Grof from circa 1960-1993; papers that Grof has written and/or presented at conferences which may or may not have been published; his doctoral dissertation (1965); an article Grof conducted with Albert Hofmann in 1984; a first-hand account of a therapy session from one of Grof’s patients [access to original is restricted until 2045]; Grof’s notes on the aforementioned patient [access restricted until 2045]; and clippings and biographical information on Grof from newspapers and magazines.

2. Student Experiences, 1981 (0.5 cubic feet)
Series 2 contains written accounts of students who participated in a workshop with Grof at the California Institute of Integral Studies. Items are arranged alphabetically by author’s last name. These items available for research, however, student names will be redacted until 2056.

Series 3 consists of secondary source materials Stanislav Grof consulted during the course of his career and is divided into 6 subseries:

   Subseries 3-A (Research Projects, Proposals and Studies) is arranged chronologically and consists of an application to administer LSD for training purposes, as well as information on a research study concerning DPT (Dipropyltryptamine) assisted therapy, presumably undertaken by Grof. It also contains an outline of a proposed study concerning the “Narcotic Addiction-Psychedelic Therapy Research Program.”
Subseries 3-B (Research Articles) includes published and unpublished preprints, reprints, abstracts, and drafts of articles on the use of psychotropic substances as a therapeutic agent. It also includes book chapters, letters to the editor, and conference presentations. This subseries consists of both scholarly material as well as items that would appeal to a general audience. Articles have been arranged alphabetically by the primary author’s last name. In cases where there are multiple articles by the same author, articles have been arranged chronologically by date when possible. A complete list of authors that appear in the subseries is available in Appendix One.

Subseries 3-C (Conference Proceedings) contains selected papers and abstracts of the cancelled 4th International Congress of the European Medical Society for Psycholytic Therapy which was to be held in Prague, 1968.

Subseries 3-D (Bibliographies, References, and Citations) contains a collection of articles and citations pertaining to Dipropyltryptamine, extensive bibliographies and article citations pertaining to LSD, and a bibliography on psychotomimetics.

Subseries 3-E (Journals, Pamphlets, and Magazines) consists of journals which contain significant articles pertaining to or written by Stanislav Grof, or something pertinent to his research interests. Visually captivating items in this series include two issues of the Observer from 1966, a 1984 issue of Syphinx featuring Albert Hofmann on the cover, and an informational pamphlet on the Institute for Psychedelic Research of San Francisco State College. Other items of interest in this series include pamphlets entitled “God in a Pill?” and “Sessions Games People Play: A Manual for the Use of LSD”; a publication entitled “Hallucinations and Delusions” produced by the National Institute of Mental Health; and an informational pamphlet on phanerothyme.

Subseries 3-F (Books, Reports, and Theses) contains seven items including the doctoral dissertation of Mary Elizabeth McCarthy; photocopies of unique monographs such as Joanna and Timothy Leary’s Neurologic; a handbook about using LSD in a therapeutic setting; and reports published by the Militarpsykologiska Institutet of Sweden.

4. Photographs and Slides, circa 1970 (0.9 cubic feet)
Series 4 contains three photographs and one slide. Two of the photographs depict nature scenes and are dated May, 1971. One depicts three people on a covered porch, and has a caption written in Czech. The slide depicts a woman seated on a park bench.

5. Correspondence, 1979-2010 (0.4 cubic feet)
Series 5 contains Grof’s correspondence concerning the Esalen Institute and the screenplay Brainstorm. The correspondence also documents Grof’s achievements, as well as a letter from the Czech president. This series includes an email between Michael Horowitz and Ralph Metzner and a letter to Dr. Willis Harman from and signed by Albert Hofmann.

6. Miscellaneous Materials, 1997-2008 (0.4 cubic feet)
Series 6 contains a variety of materials from Grof’s collection that are not representative of any of the series in his collection. There is a typed Tribute to Willia Harman that has no author, information on meetings, seminars, and workshops at the Esalen Institute; the series also contains what appears to be a typed presentation titled Psychology of the Future: Lessons from Modern Consciousness Research by Grof, a certificate from the Institut De Recherche Sur Les Experiences Extraordinaires declaring Stanislav Grof as a member of honour, and a two page document by Roger Liggenstorfer and Chris Heidrich discussing Albert Hofmann’s estate in German.
7. Electronic Materials, 1973-2008 (1.2 cubic feet)
Series 7 contains electronic copies of Stanislav’s Grof’s writings, lectures, presentation slides, biographical material, artwork, photographs, and interviews. Also included are evening talks and transcriptions of interviews, presumably conducted at the Gathering of the Elders event. Some of the discs are not labeled and the content is unknown. Electronic records may need to be reformatted. Please contact Archives and Special Collections staff before requesting digital material.

8. Restricted Materials, 1970-1981 (0.2 cubic feet)
Items in series 8 are restricted for 75 years from the date they were created. However, copies of the materials with sensitive information redacted out are available for research and have been put in place of the originals.

9. Unprocessed Additions, dates (4.25 cubic feet)
Series 9 contains various additions, which continue to be donated by Stanislav Grof. Archival processing for this series is ongoing.

Descriptive Rules Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules, 2nd Edition
Describing Archives: A Content Standard (DACS)

Processing Information
All materials have been rehoused in archival containers. Rusted staples have been removed from the materials and plastic paper clips or file folder inserts have been used in their place. Oversized materials have been kept in their original series; however, items requiring storage in a larger container have been moved to a box labeled “OVERSIZE” and a separation sheet has been put in place where items have been moved from original location within the series.

Series 3-B (Research Articles) appears to have once been arranged with an alpha-numeric system, but upon consulting with Stanislav Grof about the practicality of maintaining this order, the alpha-numeric system was abandoned in favor of alphabetizing the articles by author’s last name.

Portions of the collection contain sensitive information and have been restricted in order to respect confidentiality. These items have separated from their original location in the collection and moved to Box 16. They will be made available for research in 2083.

Additions and Revisions
In the processes of consolidating digital materials, the entire contents of box 14 were relocated to box 23, after which, box 14 was physically eliminated from the collection.

Materials continue to be received for this collection, and archival processing is ongoing.
